ABSTRACT:

In this present paper an attempt has been made to analyze the agricultural land use pattern in Nashik District. The study is based on secondary source of data obtained from the district statistical handbook. Agricultural land use pattern is always influenced by physical, weather, socio-economic and technological factors.

Abstract Report: The Title Accurately Said The Study was About.

INTRODUCTION:

The study of crop combination region is an important aspect of agricultural geography. In a country like India where agricultural has been practiced since ancient time, still form a backbone of Indian economy. Farmers are growing numerous crops in the field rather than single crop.

Introduction Report: This Article Include Full Introduction, Methods, Results & Introduction Section.

METHODS & MATERIALS:

The Present Study mainly based on secondary data sources, collected from the economic survey and district statistical department of the Nashik district. For the present study whole district is considered as a unit. Simple statistical method used and calculate the crop ranking, for crop combination weaver's method has been applied to delineate the crop combination for the following formula.

Methods & Materials Report: Tables/Boxes/Diagram & Images are Used to Explain Specific Points or Background Information. Figures That The Plotted Parameters are Clearly Mentioned.

RESULT:

Must add result in your article.

Result Report: Results are as per aims and objective and useful to further research.

CONCLUSION:

Nashik district is still subsistent in character. Among the cereals, Bajra and Rice rank first and second respectively. Vegetable, Grapes are major cash crops of the district. As the above study shows that largest proportion of the area is covered by grain crops. The study of ranking indicates that the farmer of Nashik District prefers food crops firstly and then they cultivate Grapes and vegetable cash crops to fulfill their economic needs due to the lower development of irrigation facilities.

Conclusion Report: The Text is Rounded off with a Conclusion that Discusses the Implication of The Findings & Ideas Discussed & Their Impact on Future Research Direction.
